KÆRE MEDLEM

10-års jubilæet blev fejret med maner. Det var et par herlige dage, og der skal endnu engang lyde en stor tak til alle der bidrog, og deltog. Vi vender frygteligt tilbage næste år i september, hvor vi fejrer The Gathering og en særlig 40 års SMWS-jubilæums fejring.

Smagningerne til næste års SMWS Festival gik online den 30. september, og der er stadig rigtig gode smagninger med ledige pladser, hvis du skulle have lyst til at være med. Det er ganske enkelt blevet DEN landsdækkende begivenhed, hvor medlemmer mødes fra nær og fjern.

I dette Outturn finder du 9 nye og spændende aftapninger, som du har mulighed for at smage på de kommende Casual Days. Vi har derudover nogle ekstra flasker med som du også kan (gen)smage. Situationen lige nu er den, at vi det sidste halve år har frigivet langt flere flasker end vi sælger på Casual Days. Vi tager derfor en kort pause med de "store" releases så vi kan følge med igen. På denne måde kan vi sikre at vi kommer godt og sikkert gennem de næste par måneder.

Skulle du bo i nærheden af København, eller har lyst til en lille udflugt, så holder jeg en smagning på Karetten den 28. oktober. Programmet er indtil videre hemmeligt – der skal jo også være plads til overraskelser.

I uge 42 holder vi efterårsferie, men Simon er i Torvehallerne. Skulle du kigge forbi butikken, kan du derfor blot spørge efter ham i receptionen i dagtimerne (09.00 – 14.30).

Jeg glæder mig til at se dig på en af de kommende Casual Days.

Med venlig hilsen
Thomas Korsgaard

PAPAYA AND POACHED PEACHES

Like liquid sunshine, golden aromas of sweet sultanas, creme caramel and egg custard tarts dusted with cinnamon joined quince jelly on a charcuterie board. The palate was abundant with soft fruits, custard remained but now alongside baked apples, apricot jam and peaches and pears poached in red wine. Adding water delivered us to a tropical beach with hot sand, dried papaya and smoked beef jerky. Soft peaches returned on the palate to compliment gooseberry fool, citrus groves and a hint of coal tar on the finish. After spending 13 years in an ex-bourbon hogshead this was transferred to a 2nd fill port barrique for the remainder of its maturation.

A delightful neat nose of chocolate-coated Brazil nuts, caramel popcorn, melted salted butter and a bar of milk chocolate with sea salt flakes. Unctuous on the palate, honey and pistachio parfait with hazelnut praline mixed with chocolate-swirl cinnamon marshmallows. Following reduction, we found soft sea salt pretzels and thinly sliced Black Forest ham next to the aromas of salted caramel, toasted coconut and glacé cherries. To taste, sweet like a fly cemetery and prune juice but additionally that brimming, savoury umami flavour of a miso soup. Following 10 years in an ex-bourbon hogshead, we transferred this whisky into a first fill Spanish oak oloroso hogshead.

On the nose neat we got powdered sugar on treacle tart, chocolate soil mixed with Greek natural yoghurt and marmalade on a slice of rye bread. We were then served venison with a cranberry wine sauce prepared with Dijon mustard, coarsely ground pepper, beef broth and apple jelly. The addition of water added aromas of red onion chutney, venison carpaccio, charred steak and Greek lamb stew while we enjoyed a Greek sweet liqueur seasoned with mastic, a resin with a slightly cedar-like flavour aptly called Mastika, as a digestive. Following ten years in an ex-bourbon hogshead, we transferred this whisky into a 1st fill Spanish oak Oloroso hogshead.

An unctuous amalgamation of heavy fruitcake, cocoa nibs and marmalade on toasted malt loaf mixed with creamy butter and plum and apple chutney. Like the fruitcake, the palate was heavy and rich. Mince pies and black bun (pastry-covered fruit loaf) joined ginger, cinnamon and singed raisins alongside oak staves dipped in brandy and honey. More fragrant aromas emerged with water of creme caramel, tangy orange and sandalwood with more bitter citrus notes suggesting old fashioned cocktails served with mint chocolate cookies and fudge. Chocolate now melted on the palate as zesty marmalade returned, bringing with it a bundle of herbs and a pleasingly dry finish.

A FISTFUL OF BANANAS

The saloon doors burst open and in strode the satsuma sheriff accompanied by a posse of papaya, dried banana and the cocoa nib kid. The oaky aromas of the vanilla-infused bar merged with the strawberry trifle stained grass and dry hay of the floor. The palate exploded in a crossfire of chillies and ginger as brazil nut bullets ricocheted off honey and dried herbs, turning oranges into a mash of marmalade amidst a haze of cigar smoke. A good dousing of water brought everyone back to their senses with the sweet perfumes of ylang-ylang, geranium and chamomile with hot cross buns and custard served with wild-west strawberries. The palate was now a jovial dance of peaches, ginger biscuits and cherry cake dusted with nutmeg.

MAGICAL MEDICINE

The panel agreed this one was a textbook example of this cult Islay distillery's modern era. The neat nose showed an abundance of medicinal herbs, seawater cut with olive oil, wintergreen, lanolin and cough drops. We also noted a lovely fruity waxiness, mineral oils and some background exotic fruits. With water we found salted butter, freshly chopped chives, ink, medical ointments and herbal teas. A full-on, wonderfully charismatic nose. The palate when neat showed a wonderfully medicinal profile, with emphatic coastal freshness, herbs, waxes, salted honey and a nice balance between mentholated and umami qualities. With reduction the texture became thicker and fatter. Some crisp green fruit acidity, coal dust, lemon rind and grapefruit. Outstanding, big personality whisky.

This rather delicate nose had us tumbling out of a sauna to enjoy a feast of langoustines and smoked lobster with rye bread, marie rose dipping sauce and lemon wedges. On the palate, that characteristic perfumed smoke seduced us with potpourri and rosewater, melon, pineapple and cloudy apple juice; the finish had charcoal and mint, hints of rancio and blowing smoke rings from herbal cigarettes. The reduced nose was a fresh, breezy coastal walk, amply rewarded with gravadlax and custard doughnuts. The palate now gave us heather, orange peel, cola and quince jelly, with cask char and pink peppercorns to finish.

The first impression was that of chicken liver pate served with heavily burnt Melba toast and salted dark chocolate almond toffee. On the palate it was a caffe corretto consisting of a 'hardcore espresso' with a shot of sambuca. After reduction with water everything seemed to be going up in smoke as lobster creels, sea ropes, tarmac, heather, casks and emulsion paint appeared while on the palate things calmed down, well a bit anyway. Initially sweet smoked salty liquorice which eventually relaxed into a braai spiced salt beef brisket with capers, gherkins and smoked mayonnaise.

A typically excellent initial aroma of fragrant beach bonfire smoke, wood embers, citrus curds, iodine, sandalwood and bath salts. Fresh, pin-sharp, coastal and brilliant. Water brought soft coastal herbal notes, white flowers, dried seaweed and miso paste. In the mouth we got antiseptic, petrol, aged dry Riesling, pancetta frying on a hot cast iron skillet and TCP. With water came ash-rolled exotic fruit chunks, savoury game meats, smoked malt vinegar, dried herbs and iodine with a wonderfully pure, crisp, peat smoke-infused finish. Yet another reminder of why we adore this distillery.
